ORIGIN OF THE NAMES OF THE DAYS OF THE WEEK. In the Museum of Berlin, remarks a writer in a Newark paper, in the Hall devoted to Northern Antiquities: they have the representation of the idols from whom the names of the days of the week are derived. From Sun comes Sunday. This idol is represented with his face like the sun, holding a burning wheel, with both hands on his breast, signifying his course around the world. The idol of the Moon from which cometh Monday is habited in a short coat, like a man, with the moon in his hands. Tuesday, from which cometh Tuesday, was one of the most ancient and popular gods of the Germans, and is represented in his garment of skin according to their peculiar manner of clothing. The third day of the week was dedicated to his worship. Woden, from whence Wednesday, was a valiant prince among the Saxons. His image was prayed to for victory. Thor, from whence Thursday, is seated on a bed with twelve stars overhead, holding a sceptre in the right hand. Frigo from whom we have Friday, is represented with a drawn sword in his right hand, and a bow in his left. He was the giver of peace and plenty. Seater, from whom is Saturday, has the appearance of perfect wretchedness: he is thin, visaged, long haired, with a long beard. He carries a pail of water in his right hand, wherein are fruits and flowers. WHICH WRITES MOST?—Q. Which of the three great novelists of the present day writes most—Lytton, Warren or Dickens? A. Dickens. Q. Why? A. Warren writes "Now and Then," Lytton "Night and Morning," Dickens "All the Year Round." Jake spells brandy with three letters, "O d v" (can de vie) no; in English, "B r and y."

The Daily Union Vedette.

MONDAY MORNING, MARCH 12, 1866.

The Claim of Utah to be a State.

The Polygamists of this Territory are loudly complaining because Congress has seen fit to ignore their claim to a State organization, and to judge from the tone of their journals and speeches, they would think them the most aggrieved people in existence. Yet we do not think there is an intelligent Mormon leader, who, even after witnessing the excessive leniency of the Government towards lawbreakers in Utah, during the last ten years, believes that this Territory has the slightest prospect of admission into the Union while in its present condition. It is quite evident to any one, familiar with the "peculiar institutions" of Utah, that for Congress to confer the privileges of a State upon this Territory in its present stage of civilization, would simply be placing in the hands of one man, the power which the framers of our Constitution intended for 60,000 loyal, intelligent citizens to exercise. Are the Polygamists so blind as to believe that Congress will ever confer this power upon a man, who only a few years since required executive clemency to save him from the gallows, and who has up to the present time constantly preached and practiced open defiance to the laws of the Government? Do they expect that in the United States Senate the influence of the State of New York, with its population of 4,000,000, that has furnished its 200,000 men to maintain, with their lives if need be, the honor of the nation in its late contest with treason, is to be counterbalanced by the will of one man who exulted over the calamities of the Government when it was struggling for existence? Or can they think that those citizens of Utah whose patriotism has been tested, and who are now endeavoring to add to the nation's wealth by developing the immense mineral resources of this Territory are to be placed at the mercy of one who has so repeatedly declared his deadly enmity towards them?

The unblushing impudence of the request would abash any other class than the Polygamists of Utah. The Government stands ready to admit the people of Utah into the Union whenever they will renounce their present Polygamous Oligarchy, but unless they do this they need not hope for any such result during the present generation, as a class that has dated its civilization in the period of the Patriarchs will need more the "extraordinary abilities" of Brigham Young to enable it to attain the present standard of enlightenment during this century.

GENERAL NEWS.

SENATE.

Washington, March 15. The Senate agreed to the House amendments to the civil rights bill, which is now in the hands of the President, whose action excites varied speculation and attracts much interest. The bill is as follows:

First section. All persons born in the United States, and not subject to any foreign power, excluding Indians, who are not taxed, are hereby declared to be citizens of the United States, without distinction of color, but the inhabitants of every race and color, without regard to any previous condition of slavery or involuntary servitude, except as punishment for crime, whereof the party shall have been duly convicted, shall have right to make and enforce contracts, to sue and be parties to suits, give evidence, and to inherit, purchase, lease, sell, hold and convey real and personal property, and to have the full and equal benefit of all laws and proceedings for security of person and property, and shall be subject to like punishment, pains and penalties as to none other, any law, statute, ordinance, regulation or custom to the contrary notwithstanding.

Second section. Any person, who, under color of any law, shall be subject or cause to be subjected any inhabitant of any State or Territory to deprivation of any right secured or protected by this act, or to different punishments, pains, or penalties, on account of such person having at any time been held in a condition of slavery or involuntary servitude, except as punishment for crime, whereof the party shall have been duly convicted, or by reason of his color or race, shall be deemed guilty of misdemeanor and shall, on conviction, be punished by fine, not exceeding $1,000, or imprisonment, not exceeding one year, or both, at the discretion of the court.

The third section gives the United States District Courts exclusive jurisdiction of cases arising under the act and also concurrently with the United States Circuit Courts, of all cases, civil or criminal, affecting persons who are denied or cannot enforce rights secured by this act in judicial tribunals of the State, and if any suit or prosecution, civil or criminal, has been or shall be commenced in any State court against any such persons for any cause whatever, or against any officer, civil or military, or other person, for any arrest or imprisonment, trespasses or wrongs done or committed by virtue or under color of authority derived from this act, or the act for establishing the bureau for the relief of freedmen and refugees, and all acts amendatory thereof, or for refusing to do any act upon the ground that it would be inconsistent with this act, such defendant shall have the right to remove such cause for trial to a proper District or Circuit Court in the manner prescribed by the act relating to habeas corpus and regulating judicial proceedings in certain cases. United States Marshals and District Attorneys and agents of the freedmen's bureau are empowered to prosecute cases under this bill. Severe penalties are provided for all persons who may in any way hinder the operations of it.

An additional section provides that on all questions of law, arising in any case under the provisions of this act, final appeal shall be taken to the Supreme Court of the United States. Nothing in this act, however, is to be construed as to affect the laws of any State concerning the right of suffrage.

all questions of law, arising in any case under the provisions of this act, final appeal shall be taken to the Supreme Court of the United States. Nothing in this act, however, is to be construed as to affect the laws of any State concerning the right of suffrage.

Comptroller Clark's letter creates quite a stir in Congress to-day. Clark was on the floor of the House to-day, visiting the members, and was accused by Westworth of trying to influence the House to defeat the loan bill and thwart Secretary McCulloch's policy. So great is the interest felt in this matter that the Ways and Means Committee went to the Department and made enquiry. Hooper, of the Committee, on his return, made a statement to the House, saying the Secretary's statement of the public debt was correct, the amount of money in the National Bank is $28,000,000 which was included in the $115,000,000 reported to be in the Treasury by the Secretary on March 1st.

Westworth, of Illinois, spoke two hours in earnest support of Secretary McCulloch's policy and in severe denunciation of Comptroller Clark. He was also severe on the lobby, which he declared had to be driven from the floor of the House. He said there could be no resumption of specie payments till the short obligations were out of the way. He believed the Secretary had adequate power, under the existing law, and strenuously objected to granting power in addition, to retire, by paying or funding, the non-interest bearing legal tenders, a species of currency everywhere popular and acceptable, until the short obligations were provided for. He thought the Secretary should give the public note of the amounts and priority of liabilities to be retired. This done, the business of the country would accommodate itself to it. He spoke of the accumulation of money in the Treasury and thought the temporary loan should be paid off and discontinued.

Gen. Frank P. Blair was nominated to the Senate to-day by the President, as Collector of Internal Revenue for the first district of Missouri.

The only matter of interest in the Senate yesterday was the conversion of Senator Stewart, of Nevada, to Radicalism. After Stewart's speech, in which he announced himself a new convert to the necessity for colored suffrage, saying it was the only guarantee for permanent peace and security. Sumner said, "I welcome the Senator with open arms to universal suffrage." Senators Yates and Wilson tendered similar welcome, Wilson saying, "No doubt Stewart's proposition will be favorably considered, both by the Senate and the House."

The President directs forty thousand colored troops to be mustered out during the next month.

HOUSE.

Washington, March 17. The House sat till near midnight last night, and finally rejected the Treasury Loan Bill by a close vote of two majority, ayes 66, noes 68. Reconsideration will be attempted on Monday.

During the debate preceding the final vote Hooper explained that the object of the bill was simply to give the Government an extension of time to meet the obligations about to fall due. He wanted the fact to go to the country that we are in a healthy financial condition, and able to pay every dollar we owe.

Morrill said the finances of the country are not yet out of peril. The worst and most dangerous time was yet to come, as was always the case after a period of great inflation. Gentlemen had said we had not a redundant currency. The circulation now afloat amounted to nine hundred and forty-four millions, equal to thirty dollars per capita of the population. No one could deny that was too much.

Stevens' substitute was rejected, 31 against 72. Stevens' second amendment, authorizing the Secretary to exchange all indebtedness for the purpose of retiring the treasury notes, was rejected, yeas 61, noes 73.

The question then recurred on the passage of the bill, which as amended provides that the act of March 3d, 1865, shall be extended and construed to authorize the Secretary of the Treasury, at his discretion, to receive any treasury notes or other obligations, whether bearing interest or not, in exchange for any description of bonds authorized by said act, either in the United States or elsewhere, to such an amount, in such manner, and at such rates, as he may think advisable for the lawful money of the United States, and for any treasury notes, certificates of indebtedness, or certificates of deposit, or other representatives of value, which have been or which may be issued under any act of Congress, the proceeds thereof only to be used for retiring treasury notes or others issued under any act of Congress, but nothing herein contained shall be construed to authorize the increase of the public debt, provided that the act to which this is an amendment shall continue in force in all its provisions, except as modified by this act.

Price, of Iowa, asked leave to offer the following:

Whereas a difference of opinion and a conflict of views appear to exist between the Secretary of the Treasury and the Comptroller of the Currency, which has assumed a shape calculated to injure the financial interests of the country;

Resolved, That a committee of three be appointed to investigate the cause of the difficulty and report to the House.

Boutwell objected, but subsequently withdrew his objection, which Rosa renewed, saying he did not want Price to be chairman of such an important committee.

Holbrook, delegate from Idaho, introduced bills to establish a post route from Idaho city to Rocky Bar, and to create the office of Surveyor General for the Territory.

Bradford, delegate from Colorado, introduced a bill in relation to the Colorado land district. Referred to the Committee on Territories.

Henderson presented joint resolutions of the State of Oregon for establishing a port of entry at Portland, also for a daily mail from Portland to Idaho. Referred.

The House resumed the consideration of the loan bill. Stevens spoke against it, saying it conferred more power than ever before laid on one man, and if such power was conferred, no business community could feel safe, and he believed the effect would be a financial crash.

GENERAL NEWS.

Washington, March 17. Secretary McCulloch, of Arizona, has been appointed Governor of Idaho, vice Caleb Lyon.

Some important cases are before the Supreme Court, which involve the constitutionality of the last act imposed upon the clergy, lawyers and other professions by the new State Constitution of Missouri, filed in the case of Bowler and Milligan, knights of the Golden Circle, who were convicted at Indianapolis, by a military commission, and sentenced to death and subsequently pardoned. It involves the legality of military trials in States where the civil Courts are in full operation.

Robert Dale Owen appeared before the House Committee on Foreign Affairs yesterday and argued in favor of the proposition to guarantee a fifty million loan of the Republic of Mexico. He believed it was the duty of the United States to assist a neighboring Republic struggling for its existence against the machinations of Imperial despotism.

It is reported that the President has telegraphed to Gov. Wells, of Louisiana not to allow the newly elected Mayor of New Orleans to be installed.

Chicago, March 17. Gov. Cox, of Ohio, having issued a warrant for the arrest of two citizens of Clinton county, Ohio, upon the regulation of the Governor of Louisiana, habeas corpus has been invoked, and the question will be taken to the courts as to whether Louisiana is a State in the Union whose requisition should be honored. The parties arrested are charged with larceny for working an abandoned plantation.

The Massachusetts Legislature, on the 14th, adopted resolutions on the state of the country, after two weeks' animated debate. Sumner's friends are defeated in a resolution thanking Wilson by name for his course on the Constitutional amendment, which would be a rebuke to Sumner. A resolution was adopted thanking the whole delegation for their firmness in resisting the premature admission of Southern representatives at the risk of losing by legislation what we have gained by war. Another resolution declares that the President's attack on Sumner was an unwarranted and unjust reflection upon Massachusetts. A resolution offered by Denby, of Boston, expressing the earnest desire that the unwise words that may have fallen from the lips of men in Congress or the Cabinet, or even from the President himself, shall not be allowed to prevent that unity of action necessary for the adoption of such measures as shall secure to all their civil and political rights, and bring peace and prosperity to the whole country, was rejected, yeas 55, noes 99.

The Albany Argus shows from the record of the Legislature for the present session that the repeated attempts of the endorsement of President Johnson never received the vote of a single Republican. These facts are on record for future reference.

Buffalo, March 17. The freight depot of the N. Y. Central Railroad and elevator adjoining, were burned this morning, loss $1,000,000. The elevator contained 400,000 bushels of grain. The fire was caused by a careless watchman.

Minneapolis, Minn., March 17. A fire last night burned everything from 1st St. to Davies St. Loss, $100,000.

Chicago, March 17. The N. Y. Times says Comptroller Clark's letter is wretchedly out of taste and impertinent, and is much to be regretted for his sake. If he was known as an intelligent banker, we should ascribe to ignorance of treasury accounts a course which now appears only a capricious and reckless purpose to impeach the Secretary of the Treasury.

The New York Tribune says, Clark's letter may be of importance to the writer, but in this latitude it is regarded as an impertinent interference of a subordinate in matters solely in charge of the Secretary, who very justly commands the confidence of the financial public to a rare degree. While McCulloch was Comptroller of Currency he rendered valuable services, but left no record of published letters advising Chase or Fessenden, an example the present Comptroller will do well to follow, if he does not wish to be prostrated with impertinent opinions after he succeeds to the mantle of McCulloch, as Secretary of the Treasury, which is not impossible.

The mail service in the Pacific States for the next four years, contracts for which were closed last Wednesday 14th, number in California 99 routes, Nevada 10 routes, Oregon 21, Washington 19, Idaho 7, Utah 25, Colorado 21, Arizona 11, New Mexico 8. The competition throughout was greater than at any former period. Prices were reduced on those now paid.

The following was to-day laid before the House of Representatives, dated Treasury Department, March 17:

"Sir, I have the honor to acknowledge the receipt of a resolution from the House, dated the 5th inst., requesting a statement of the amount of money now in the treasury, including all sums in the hands of the Assistant Treasurer, National Banks and other depositories, designating the amount in each depository. I transmit herewith a communication from the Treasurer of the United States, together with statements prepared by him, from which it appears that the available balance in the Treasury, according to returns to the 10th inst. is $123,423,885; consisting of coin, $57,799,921, and of currency, $65,623,965, of which sum $217,893,058 was on deposit in National Banks."

(Signed) Henry McCulloch.

The document was addressed to Speaker Colfax.

St. Patrick's Day was generally celebrated both in Canada and the States, without disturbance anywhere, so far as heard from, the reports covering all the principal cities. The celebration at Montreal was immense. The Governor-General being called upon, made a speech, accepting the compliment as a protest against the schemes of wicked men, who would disgrace the name of Irishmen by war, by an attack on a peaceful, prosperous and happy country. At New York, Pontifical High Mass was celebrated by Bishop McCloskey, and an address pronounced by Bishop Lynch, of Charleston. Weather intensely cold.

The New York Times correspondent says the debate preceding the above vote on the Colorado bill, assumed a different form than was expected at the opening of the question, negro suffrage being withdrawn as an issue, leaving the application of Colorado to stand upon the policy or impolicy of admitting the young Territories of the West and Northwest, with a more village population, to an equality in votes and influence in the Senate with the great States, New York, Pennsylvania and Ohio.

To the West—H. Curtis, A. McRobb, D. Lee, D. Graves, F. M. Davis, L. W. Hellyer, F. Blood.

From the West—J. Walters, F. P. Whitcomb, M. D. Bowie, Mrs. C. Pratt, Mr. Scherer, Miss Coffee, Walter Davis, and wife.

for distribution. A more able production could not have been given. The whole celebration was closed with a grand ball in the evening at Social Hall. The room was decorated in an appropriate and elegant manner, and densely filled with one of the most brilliant companies ever within its walls. The whole affair reflected credit upon the Fenian organization, which now numbers nearly 800 members in this Territory.

JAMES B. DANIELS, recently reprimanded by Gov. Meagher, came over on yesterday's stage from Virginia, and gave himself up to Deputy Marshall Featherstone, whose protection he solicited. Against whom he seeks protection we are not advised. Our readers can judge of the dangers that beset him. After our paper had gone to press and a portion of the edition worked off, Daniels has been found suspended to a tree in Dry Gulch.—Radiator, 3d.

The Rev. Norman McLeod, Pastor of the Gentile Church in this city, started on Friday last, for Washington, his presence there, it is understood, being required by the Committee on Territories. Mr. McLeod during the past year has promoted a good work in this city. His lectures on polygamy has attracted a great deal of attention and have been attended by a large number of people.—Mormons and Gentiles. We regret that they have necessarily been interrupted for a season, but his friends and the people generally may rest assured that whether in the pulpit or before the Committee on Territories, the claims of loyalty, virtue and Christian civilization in Utah will find in Mr. McLeod a stern, uncompromising, fearless and truthful advocate. The Mormon hierarchy may well tremble at the prospect before them. They have scoffed and defied the Government until forbearance has ceased to be a virtue, and they are about to be taught that the law prohibiting polygamy means something and must be obeyed.

STOCKTON, Rush Valley, U. T., March 14th, 1866. Editor Vindicator:—The excitement attendant upon the discovery of gold in Rush Valley has not abated yet, those that are prospecting every day discover new ledges of gold-bearing quartz. I have seen some very rich specimens taken out of the Golden Edge Lode. This is the lode where gold was first discovered, and is one of the largest in the district. The quartz in which the gold is found is considerably decomposed on the surface, but after going down on them it changes to a gray or black color, and gold is found more plentiful in the rock. It seems to be a query among most of the fuddled minded here that it is a bulk gotten up to deceive the people, but let those who don't believe it take a ride over to Rush Valley, and I can show them plenty of gold-bearing quartz in this district, and the coming summer the Rush Valley Mining District will produce as rich gold-bearing quartz as California or Nevada ever did, and all that is lacking are mills to crush the rock, we have not only got the silver here, but we have the gold also, and all that Rush Valley wants is men of capital to open her mines, and show to those fuddled minded people that we have got just what we represent. More anon. MINER.
